THE SEA GÂTE CHRONICLE

Acœrdion Torture

By Robert Wolfe
Sea Gâte Gazette

A Sea Gâte boy was forced by his mother to play "Flight of the Bumble bee" and "Saber Dance" on his squeeze box, 100 times a day for 5 years. By the time the lad became proficient, he was able to play the tunes 100 limes in 10 minutes. Firemen from the 318 Hook and Ladder Division were always called in for his daily récital, in order to douse the fiâmes if the boy's Angers caught Are from his dervish-like playing.

Months later, the musical lad's mom, again forced the boy against hiswill, to perfonn the two pièces at Carnegie Hall in front of thousands attending. She threatened to withhold his treasured Nathan's lobster salad, if he relûsed to perform perfectly. He performed once again, and was treated to a one-pound container of his favorite delicacy.

Seafood Diet??

By Bubbles Axelrod
Coney Jsiand Gourmet

Coney 1 si and Health officiais reported today, that a boy survived the first 13 years of his life eating only Nathan's Lobster Salad and drinking Sunny Boy Orange drinks. His mother (conf d pg. 2, column 1) specifically went to the beach to buy the Sunny Boys complété with conical wax coated containers and the métal ring at the mouth. She claimed the métal ring gave her son bigger Jips for playing saxophone and bassoon, and the lobster salad, she believed would make her son a genîus. The mother was committed to an insane asylum in Florida, and the boy believes he has 2 jets, an island, a ranch, mansions and a sexy English socialité girlfriend.

HOUSE_OVERSIGHT_OOOQ37

After the boy was taken into custody by officiais and fed lox, bagels and cream cheese, the hallucinations disappeared. He was given a ³A length black leather coat and returned to his daily activities of providing free ice cream and candy to his friends (courtesy of Jack's Firestone luncheonette).

Beach Attack

By Lawrence Dyck
Sea Gale Observer

Lloyd Bridges "Human Fish", a water monger, and a local t-shirt clad Hippo were attacked by a school of deadly Coney Island Whitefish. The attack occurred last Saturday just off the Sea Gâte Cabanas at Beach One. The enraged Hippo then clammed indiscriminately, and repeatedly on the chests and faces of the other victims. The "Human Fish", and the water monger also reported a curious yellow wannth in the seawater when they came close to the Hippo. The swimmers thanked the Hippo for throwing a fit and clamming, as it scared the school of whitefish off. Ail beaches are flying a Coney Island Whitefish waming flag for the remainder of the swimming season.

Nickel Artist Arrested

By LiHian Fisher
Handicap Times Magazine

Coney Island's Melvin Fromholder was best known as "Mad Mel" the nickel carver. Mel had the uncanny ability to eut everything off a buffalo nickel, leaving onJy the buffalo and the "ring" surrounding it. Customers would travel from ail 5 boroughs and wait months to buy one ofthe hard-to-get coins. A local wisecracker named Lany-John Streitman, tried to pump Mel for information on how to mass-produce these coins. Fromholder was insulted and became enraged. Mad Mel lived up to his name when he stabbed Streitman in the "Stomach and the Leg" 10 times. Ironically, Streitman. was wearing a cheap copy of Mel's original 'TQo Hassle Band" on his wrist when he was attacked. "If it wasn't for the "No Hassle Band", said Streitman, " I woulda been dead".

Fromholder is doing hard time, and can't fill customer's orders for the nickels because officiais refiised to let Mel bave his tools. You'd better get in line; Mûd Mel's in for 5 years and he's got 5125 orders for the prized buffalo nickels.

Europe on a Budget

By Yehudah JLeibig
Sons of Israël Travel Guide

Two Sea Gâte teens claim to hâve started out with $500 each, and managed to travel Europe for 2 rnonths. The boys hitch-hiked, wandered and adventured through Europe while their stupid friend served hamburgers and french fries at Nathan's. The two returned with long haïr, suntans and 2 brand new Triumph Tiger 500 Motorcycles; they even had change to boot. One of the two actually Iost 40 pounds, because of the serious lobster shortage in Europe.

Dirt Brothers Airested

By Richard Freed
Tutoring Are Us Magazine

Once again, the infamous "Dirt Brothers" were seen on Sea Gâte Avenue illegally dumping drain oil from their "Lemon" Camaro. Sgt. Gino "Gene" Venezia arrested the two brothers. Judge Phil Russick found the Dirt Brothers guilty and sentenced them to 48 hrs. confinement with Bobby Wolfe, Larry Dick, Dicky Friedman, Donnie JMignualg^ieral [redacted]d Bullah, [redacted] and [redacted] Upon release, the elder brother commented, "screw it, next time we'll take it to the grease monkey".

Hufâchback Dies

By Not so Lucky Luckfeid
Firecrackcr Chroniele

Robert Avner, Coney Island's only living hunchback died last week of an infected hunch. Observers witnessed Avner screaming at his friends for help with his itching back. "Scratch like a bitch, scratch like a bitch" he pleaded, but it was too late; no one would scratch the infected hunch. Avner died of whiplash from repeatedly tuming his head to far left and far right during his last minutes.

Teen Bitten

By Mrs, Shmolowitz
WooHvûrth Newsletter

A Sea Gâte teenager (name withheld) was viciously bitten on the neck by crazed Steve Jankowitz, The bitten youth was found crying afier witness "Count Hymie" recounted the (conf d. pg. 4, column 1) gruesome details. Sea Gâte cops were unable to capture the foaming-mad Jankowifz, which resulted in the victim being forced to hâve 29 injections in the stomach. A Bite Alert bas been announced and posted on the Sea Gâte Chapel Bulletin Board.

Pizza Man Goes Berserk!

By Yetta Parues
Yenta Times

Pizza man Luigi Tortoni flew into a fit of rage after employer Arthur Stem (owner of the famed restaurants, "The Spot" and "The Riviera Snack Bar") told Luigi that he would start using fake cheese in his pizza. Tortoni exploded and held Stern at knife point until Sgt. Gino "Gene" Venezia of Sea Gâte Police S.W.A.T. team negotiated with the mad ïtalian. The straight-jacketed Tortoni was promptly shipped back to Italy. Sources report that Luigi Tortoni is now a famous spumoni scoop designer frequently seen on the prestigious Vespa racing circuit.

Dermatologist Fights Fire

By Robert Ardigo
Pizza Face Pages

World renowned Pimple Expert Dr. Shin Ho Yep daims the secret to a great compiexion is in his secret formula. Hundreds of butter face teens flock to Dr. Yep's office off Océan Pkwy. in Brooklyn to obtain much needed help. The Dr. applies his "secret formula" to kid's faces and within seconds their skin feels like a raging infemo. Sorne patients wail in agony from the fiery concoction, and if they scream loud enough, Yep says "just 10 more minutes". If they start to cry, Dr. Yep prodaims "OK we put out fire now". He takes a tissue and puts 2 drops of water on it and barely dabs at the blistering skin. Chemical analysis of Yep's "secret formula" found it to be nothing but a combination of straight hydrochloric and suliuric acids.
The results: a cranberry sauce red appearance immediately after treatment, but after two weeks, ail but one kinky haired Sea Gâte boy, had a peaches and cream compiexion.

Cap, Gown And What??

By Stanley Komito
Latayette Lcgend

Four rebeliious Sea Gâte boys, two of whom barely graduated, were caught wearing dungarees and Beatle Boots under their graduation gowns. The graduation exercises took place at a famous movie theater in downtown Brooklyn. One of the cocky boys remarked "Hey what are they gonna fail me now??"

2 Barely Graduate

By Cari Ashby
Health Ed Journal

After making a mockery of phys-ed class for the majority of their senior year, Coach Gary Lasker pulled two teens from gym class 6 weeks before graduation and gave them the bad news: they weren't going to graduate! ? Although the 2 boys had virtually straight A[3] s in academies, they were total losers when it came to gym. They pleaded with Mr. Lasker and asked what they could do to make it up. After thinking about a just punishment, he required the students to double tirne in every gym class. They had to do twice the exercise, twice the running, as well as lead the class in exercise until the end of the school year. Lasker also humiliated the boys in front of each and every class, but allowed them to graduate with a grade of one point over the minimum passing grade of 65.

Yellow Laundry Mystery Solved

By Béatrice K» Cooper
Read a Book-a-Day Club

An obese Sea Gale family started to notice that their laundry mysteriously started turning yellow every time they removed it from the clothes line. Mrs. Bulla daims she uses Clorox bleach in every wash load, but the laundry curiously tums yellow and has an ammonia smell after it dries. This happened for months until her son Gerald started doing some détective work on his own. After 2 more months of surveillance, Gerald Bulla caught the culprit red (or should I say yellow) handed. The Bulla's downstairs neighbor's son had been repeatedly squîrting the laundry with a squirt gun filled with an unknown yellow liquid. The But las were forced to move away after more highjinks occurred.

(conf d pg. 6, column l)

HOUSE_OVERSIGHT_OOQ041

5th Graders Clean up Coney

By Nelly Bly
Graves End Books

Mr. Stephen Levy whip-trained his over-achieving class 5-3 until they mastered Easy Steps March and Aida, Only then would he allow them to be featured in the Prestigious Coney ïsland Clean Up Campaign Parade. The long awaited Parade arrived, and the fifth gtaders had to march in sweltering 110 degree heat. Fifteen of the 45 kids suffered heat exhaustion, and one saxophone player continued marching and playing until midnight. The Sea Gâte boy marched until his pinky toe popped through the side of his signature blue Keds boat sneakers. He was awarded the "Schmuck of the Coney ïsland Clean up Campaign " award. Because of the notoriety the student gave Keds, they offered him a lifetime supply of the sneakers, as long as those were the only shoes he would ever wear in the future. The same offer came from a local sweatshirt manufacturer, but they eventually went out of business after giving the kid so many free sweatshirts. He still wears them today, but has his kid brother silk sçreen different logos on them such as '"POLICE", "ZORRO" and "SHMITKA"

Teacher Almost Gets the Boot

By Emi! Suskind
P.S. 188 News

Sixth grade teacher Ed Goldsmith, was never known to be a conventional thinker by his peers, but his students really enjoyed his non-conformism. With his dry wit and different way of looking at things, the students were always educated, as well as entertained. His colleagues never respected Goldsmith and probably resented his odd approach.

On assembly day in April of 1964, Mr. Goldsmith, an accomplished jazz pianist, played the national anthem in a "jazzed-up" version, and sent the auditorium reeling into a near riot. The teachers hated the rendition, calling it a mockery and a disgrâce, while the children clapped and snapped to the coolest version of the anthem they'd ever heard!

On the next day, Mr. Goldsmith was handed his walking papers by the school administration, and made an announcement to his class, that he was forced to leave. The (cont'd pg. 7, column 1) students were dismayed, some to the point of crying. When they notified their parents of the administration's decision, students along with their parents went on strike the following day. They demanded a reversai of the decision, stating that the teacher was the one most inftuential persons contributing to the student's créative thînking. Aller a multi-hour standoff the administration backed down and allowed Mr, Goldsmith to continue teaching until the end of the terni. Ed Goldsmith stated that he would not retum to the school after that year.

The kids really loved that man.

Math Teacher Is Hong!!

By Paul Med ici
Math Team Newsletter

Famed diminutive math teacher Joseph "Mighty Joe" Rothman, has been a fixture at Mark Twain JUS for over 35 years. Students hâve taunted the midget math man ever since he started teaching. Year after year of being teased by the kids hâve caused the man to lash out at new students before they ever had the chance to bother him. This year was different; when he failed two students due to personality conflicts, rather than poor grades, the students held a "lynching" right in the classroom. Mighty Joe was hung by his sport coat, on a coat hook, in the students' wardrobe. Both students were expelled ffom school and Mr. Rothman only had his pride hurt. To this day, Mighty Joe still teaches math at âge 112.

A brillo haired teenager was nearly drowned in Fox's U bet chocolaté syrup when his four friends held him down and poured 10 jars ofthethick, rich, velvety egg cream component Aller 5 minutes of the syrup torture, the kinky teen suffored from terminal acné and was immediately ambuianced to Dr. Shin Ho Yep, a pimple specialist. The Dr. refused treatment, as the acné was too far-gone. " To much peempoo; cannot fix", the doctor, said. The crater-face teen now has to check his oil every 10 minutes, for fear of greasy build-up. As punishment, his friends were required to provide him with a Jifetime supply of Oxy 10.

Near Miss on Belt Pkwy.

By Officer Bits
Sea Gâte Police Bulletin

Last Friday, 3 Sea Gâte boys perpetrated a hoax on popular math tutor Richard "Dicky" Freed. One boy set the scam up by mentioning that he needed math tutoring, knowing that Dicky would surely zéro in on this "needy student". Freed took the boy onto the Belt Plcwy. in his navy blue 63 Chevy Belair. Once they reached the large gas tanks on the way to Sheepshead Bay, two other boys who were hiding behind the back seat popped up and scared the dickens out of Dicky. He temporarily lost control of the vehicle when both arms went off the steering wheel and up to the roof of the vehicle as he shrieked in fear. The 3 boys laughed hysterically as Freed ⁴ s car careened through 3 ianes of traffic, almost flipping over the guard rail. Police reported the incident to the boys' parents. The punishment: 2 boys- no coter TV for One weekll The 3rd boy was deprived of his precious lobster salad for one week. Freed retumed to normal tutoring after a week of shoe poÜ3hing and récupération from the mental trauma.

Fans wild over Dynamite Tuna

By Chaim Gifler
Mermaid Ave. Gourmet

Every so often, a genius cornes along with a new recipe that takes the world by storm. The genius this time?,,. the son of a Coney Island fireman, who worked for months honing the magic recipe for the perfect tuna salad. The entire neighborhood waits on line for hours outside the fireman's house, for just one small taste of the "miracle tuna". Folks can't believe that the young lad had the wisdom or knowledge to create such a masterpiece in tuna.

When asked for the recipe, the teen will only reveal one part of the secret "It has to do with squeezing the oil out of the tuna, then rinsing it with water", he said. Sources also reported seeing used Hellman's mayo jars in the trash cans behind the house. According to national tuna experts, this could be another major breakthrough in solving the "miracle tuna" puzzle,.

The "tuna boy", as he is now known, commented: "If you like my tuna, wait till you taste my fantastic "Wonder Slaw" cole sïaw, and my soon-to~be famous Galliano Mille Shake".

Teen brings home Brit

A coclcy Coney Island teenager met a genuine British Pachoochie and had the audacity to bring her home to live in his parent's house. His mother never trustée! the pachoochie and believed that she insidiously sapped the intelligence and manlihood from her son. After months of monitoring and recording observed data, the mother supplied the I.N.S. with ail the dope on this wild Englander and had her deported. When the boy regained his senses, he had totally forgotten any details of the British pachoochie.

Ejected from Singles Weekend

By Henny Youngman
Catskills Comics

Coney Island teens signed up for what should hâve been a fun singles weekend at Kutsher's Country Club, but something went awry. After causing disturbance at the pool, the young men went to their room and made so much noise that security had to corne and warn them of probable éjection from the premises. Later on, the trouble-makers arrived at the main ballroom for dinner. Each table was matched with boys and girls for the event. Again, the boys were causing more trouble, and by the time the food was served, the crowning blow occurred. One of the teens known as "Neutral", started eating directly out of the large salad serving bowl. To make things worse, he ate without knife or fork, much like a mad dog. He was actually foaming at the mouth, growling, and jerking his head up and down as he chewed the salad. Needless to say, the boys were immediately escorted from the ballroom, and promptly told to leave Kutcher's without delay.

Dearest Jeff:

Fifty years old. You really hâve had a pretty amazing life. Amazing because of where and when it started. Paula and Seymour fucking. Who was tliere to tell liim where to stick it? Who told liim to spit on lier cunt to make it wet? Maybe they had more on tire bail (lien we ail give tliem crédit for.

Anyway from tliat night back in May of 1953, as they lay tliere intoxicated from their lovemaking, little did they knovv what they would be bringing into the world early the next year. Lets fast forward to you. I remember sunimers when Warren would always work some sliit ass job (Nathan's) for minimum wage, I would always find something (Male Ego in Brighten Beach) and Frog would too (Cabana Boy). But you, Jeff would never work. Yes, you were spécial. You did things like music camps in Michigan, etc. Whicli brings me to when you lost your virginity. You may not remember, but I was under the same roof that could new years eve in ⁵66 or ⁹67 (not sure). The first time 1 ever flew was with you. I went with you to Michigan to visit your friend^H [redacted] the Interlochen girl for new years eve. It was also the first time 1 had ever laid eyes on a bright, attractive, bubbly, bïue eyed, mid western feniale. She was like an alien to me. She wasnT Jewish or Italian. Wasn't she your first? My first was up in Monticello, where I spent part of the summer with Lloyd and Andy working at Playland Arcade in Monticello. It was Lloyd's girlfriend. Anyway, back to the Michigan trip, because it was significant. Jeff, you took me with you. It was my first time oui of Brooklyn. It was no big deal, but we went. And nobody else ever WENT any where back when and where we came from.

And then on to Europe. The second time I ever flew. Sabena Airlines to Brussels. Wasn't it $800 RT. In Europe, I really saw a true transformation in you. You lost ali of your chubbiness and I remember noticing that you grew a few niches. We both got absolutely skinny in those weeks abroad. I will always remember how you were constantly working the train schedules - riding by night so would hâve a free place to sleep and arriving to our destinations in the moming ready to hit tire sites. We'd drink in ail that the ciliés had to offer on a budget of $2 a day. Author Frommer's EUROPE ON $5 A DAY was for suckers. We did it clieaper, deeper, wider and better. We saw and learned so much on that mémorable trip. We Ilitch hiked, we biked, we trained, we ferried, we walked, we ran. we always somehow managed to get where we wanted to go and see what we wanted to see. We .slept on trains, boats, beaches, abandoned houses, flop houses, people's homes, friend's apts. Everywhere but hôtels and hostels. We were too sawy to stay in a youth liostel - weren't we? Hell, I can't even remember us having a sit down meal on that trip. We couldnT care less about food. But we did enjoy ail tliat clieese and bread and train station soup. Remember our first night in Europe. It probabiy was our worst. But, we did steal two heavy, itchy blankets from (hat youth hostel. It was freezing and wet. But tliings went way up from tliere. Especially the time I had a wet dream sleeping in my seat on the ferry from Brendizi (or Bari?) to Corfu. Did I share tliat with you? Remember the Corfu police detained me on arrivai to the Island? We had some scaiy moments. That*s what made it such a great expérience. We stayed on Corfu for 2 weeks or so. Never got to London because of that. Corfu was great on the budget and I remember it being great sleeping on the beach with kids from ail over the world - Matt anc^^^Htoo and those two girls from Cleveland.

That bip to Europe could get more space but the main point is that it really opened your eyes to anotlier world. And mine too. But you Jeff seized it. I did too in a sense. But you spent the next summer in London and came home with a beautiful British babc named [redacted] You had such chuzpah to bring her to your beautiful. civilized, impressive home on Maple Ave. Think back on tliat now. Thaï shows a lot. It really does. You didn't give a shit about what. she thought. And slie couldn't hâve been too impressed. You were scriously easy going - never up tiglit. Never worried, always confident. That aspect of your personality, of course coupled with your brilliance and intellect is what ruade you who and what you are today. That don't give a shit attitude, your calculated aloofness, your sense of humor and most importantly that confidence came to you early on. You had to hâve confidence and an I don't give a shit attitude to bringHHinto your Sea Gâte world. Tt worked! You began to realize tliat you could get away with shit! That chicks and people in general were schmucks! You sensed. that you were sharper and more astute than most.

Especially tire ones who had wornen, nioney, position and power. Yes, your charisma and persuasive ways came very early on. And you didn't learn life's tessons in your house. You learned them from us (me, frog, WE) from Europe, Interlochen, our trips to the city and ail the people you met along the way. Maybe you picked up a little from Tiinmy, too. Reineniber meeting Phillie? He's 16. He said he'll always remember how you said tliat Tinuny taught you a lot about business. I know you enlianced tliat a bit, but tliat was a great tliing to say to a kid., and ITl never forget it eitlier. Warren and Phillie are crazy about eacli otlier and the kid is obviously enamoured by you and loved meeting you. It meant a lot to hini and me. He's really a great kid - lias that easy going, confident nianner. Good looking kid.

So now you Te fifty. No sweat Jeff. You look great, you're probably in the best sliape of your life and you're not slowing down one bit. If no one told you how old you were - wouldn't you think you were 36 or something? Just don't get bored and stay liealtliy.

And tlien tliere's Warren. He's as hilarious as ever and exactly the sanie as he was 35 yrs. ago with his trench coat and his business man's boots BACK THEN! We see eacli other pretty often. When can Warren and I get together w/ you for at least an evening and just get Warren started, you know the way we used to. Maybe we necd to include Zucca as a prop for Warren.

If you look at our little group of you , Warren, Frog and nie. We were very close, although we never said or knew it back tlien. We didn't hâve girlfriends, we never even dated. We didn't look to our families really for anything, we liad each otlier. That was through high school. Tlien when we went to college we were still close but we eacli began go brandi out from the group. We had great limes and I'm convinced - and I know tliis as fact: You guys made me what 1 became today and tliere's not a day that goes by that I don't tliink about you. So Jeff, even tliough we don't speak tliat often, and our lives don't intersect, you really are a part of me and I will always be grateful for the great times we had. You liave been and still are a great influence for me. You don't know it, but you're my kid's rôle niodei. That's why ifs so satisfying to recall the past with you. It lias sliaped both of us. When Warren and 1 get together, who and wliat do you think we talk about? You, You, You, You, its constant -1 can't stand it anymore.

That's it for now. I know 1 got a bit sentimental, but it's tire occasion. Take good care. fil always liave (lie fondest memories of our past and I can honestly say tliey were the best years of my life - even tliougli 1 couldn't ever get laid.

Eternally and with love,

Johnny Boy

CLASS 9SP3

SCOTT EHRLICH is good in math. Famé will one day cross his path.

WARREN EISENSTEIN—"I didn't do It!" is his alibi. "It was me that talked. It wasn't I."

STEPHEN GARONE—In art he paints. In English he faints.

HOWARD GLANTZMAN—He's the noise in back of the room, talking from September to June.

PAUL KAMINSKY—Paul is a genius but never shows it; we wonder if he really knows it.

CAREY KOPLOWITZ—There are happy people;there are sad peuple; there are good people; there are bad people; then there's Carey.

MARK LIPTON—Our captain brave and strong. How corne he always leads us wrong?

JOËL MANDELMAN—At home, he says he often strains. Why, then, at home leaves he his brains?

ELLIOT RAINES—Ask about baseball, he'll answer quickly. Ask about science, he'll answer thickly.

STEPHEN SCHWARTZ—Chubby and jolly, a great guy, by golly!

BETTY BRODSKY—Never remembers, always forgets; she'll lose anything she didn't lose yet

SHARON BROYDE—Sharon's motto will be forever "Jt's always better late—than never."

CHERYL GREENSPAN—If you need someone to brighten your way, Cheryi will do it by laughing ail day.

ELLEN KATZ—Ellen is long and lanky. She studies with no hanky-panky.

DEBRA NESSEL—Debbie is full of joy. Only when she's with a boy.

GALE REIF—Gale will be a secretary and you may as well clap, for she'll wind up sitting on her boss's lap.

ENID ROSEMAN—They don't corne sweeter. No one can beat'er.

AUDREY ROTH—There are geese in flocks and cattle in herds. There is Audrey, who talks in great big words.

BARBARA SCHWARTZ—Shy and gentle, nice and sweet. The kind of girl we like to meet.

MERRIL SINGER—There are as many freckles on her face as there are holes in Chantilly lace.

SANDRA STEIGMAN—For Sandra there is no excuse, some day she'll learn the truth about Zeus.

MELODY STERN—Melody is always the center of attraction; without her around there'd never be action.

KATHLEEN SUTER—Rumpelstiltskin never spun a gold as lovely as this one.

JUDITH TLUMAK—Shy and quiet in her seat, doesn't Judy look just sweet!

MRS. SCHARFSTEIN—A little laugh, a little cheer, a lot of work—Mrs. Scharfstein's here!

December, 2002

Jeffrey,

You could never imagine the surprise I felt when Ghislaine first contacted me about writing something for your memory book.

Over the years I hâve thought of Class 5-3 & 6-3, numerous times with affection and really fond memories. After ail, you guys were my second class EVER and I had just transferred from my first job, vvhich was in, of ail places, Fort ' Apache, The Bronx! Imagine, coming from a class of hold-overs, delinquents, and worse, to a class of "Intellectually Gifted Children." Believe me, it was quite a chore just to keep one step ahead of that class.

One day, about 2 weeks ago, 1 was on the Northem State Parkway on my way home, creeping along at 5 miles an hour, in the midst of a snowstorm, when my cell phone rang. I spent the next 15 minutes or so reliving the past with Warren, who was calling from sunny Dallas, Texas. As we talked and he mentioned students' naines, most of the faces flashed before my eyes. I even told him.... Jeffrey, saxophone, Michael, clarinet, Warren, saxophone and so on for most of the class. He later sent me a picture of the class and there I was, much thinner, with black horn-rimmed glasses and a full head of dark brown hair. There you were, just as I remembered you, with a Mona Lisa smile that hid what was really going on in that interesting brain of yours. Who could bave guessed the wonderful, fascinating things that were in store for you?

I remember discussing Abraham Lincoln with the class and staring in wonder at the student who had read ail of Sandberg's Life of Lincoln and spouted facts of which I was totally unaware. I also remember my math (never my strong suit) being corrected from time to time, very respectfully, by Jeffrey. I also remember the Coney Island Cleanup Parade and performing onstage at Lafayette and blowing away the audience who had just listened to a Junior High orchestra.

I hâve many awards and plaques on my office walls, at home and at work.... too many for any one place, but for ail these years 1 still treasure and display the gold painted, wooden plaque that I received from your class for being the "Best Teacher."

I'm thrilled and delighted that you still remember me and that in sonie smali way I may hâve made a différence and touched your life. Happy Birthday!

In 1963, you were around 10 and 1 was 23.... twice as old as you. Today you are 50 and Fm 63.... somehow you're catching up! How did that happen?

GIRLFRIENDS

Dearest Jeffrey,

if i were to list my life time achievements, surely scoring higher than you on the nineth grade algebra regent would rank in the top ten. I'll never forget the exhilaration of considering myself smarter than Jeffrey Epstein in math. That same year, you not only performed mathematical magic by tutoring me to get a perfect score on the regent, you thrilled our class in music by playing "California Dreaming" on the piano, and thrilled me even more by stealing a kiss after "The Sound of Music" at Radio City Music Hall.

When we met again some time after college, you had shoulder length curls, wore wonderful hand-embroidered denim work shirts and tight jeans, and drove a brown Camaro with a glove compartment full of parking tickets. Needless to say, you had outgrown your shyness around girls and even confessed that you participated in peace marches because they were the easiest places to get laid. A truly unique perspective on political activism in the 70's.

A few years later during a trip to Palm Beach, we were driving around admiring the homes when you pointed in the direction of a particularly impressive mansion and said, "One day, I'm going to own that." I smiled and considered your comment nothing more than wishful thinking. Many mansions later, you hâve shown me the importance of having a vision and the détermination to pursue it. A lesson I continue to rely upon for inspiration.

From lessons in algebra to lessons in life, the lessons I've learned from you during the past 35 years haven't always been easy or even ones that I would hâve chosen to learn, but they were always important, I'm very grateful to hâve you for a friend and hope that if you ever need help solving a rate/time/distance problem, you won't hesitate to call.

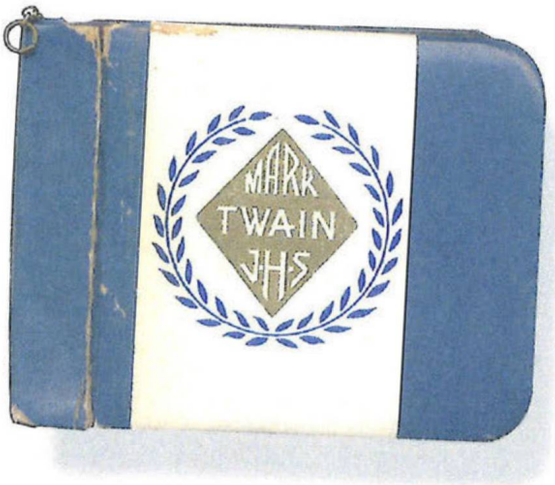

All my love,

HOUSE_OVERSIGHT_000083

This album was specially designed and hand-bound for you by WEITZ-COLEMAN using only the finest calf and Moroccan skins which are individually selected and vegetable tanned for bookbinding. Variations in color and surface markings are natural characteristics of fine leather and are your assurance of its quality. The buttery softness of calfskin give it great tactile appeal and lends itself to easy scuffing which develops into an exquisite antique patina. We recommend that the binding be treated with lanolin and neatsfoot oil at least once a year. You may bring in your WEITZ-COLEMAN binding for a complimentary treatment.

Title page of the first édition of the Pathétique Sonata (Gesellschaft der Mnsikfreunde, Vienna)

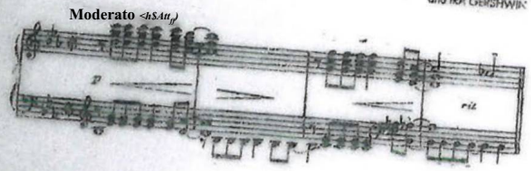

Oi ail the works composed or planned or published in this period; one stands out for both its famé and its substance: the Piano Sonata in C minor, Op 13, called by Beethoven himself the Pathétique and published by Hoffmeister of Vienna in December 1799 with a Idedication to Prince Karl Lichnowsky. The Allgemeine Musika-\ \lische Zeitung(19 February 1800) praised it in high terms. Modelled in its formai outline on ideas first tried out in one of the earlyl Electoral Sonatas of 1783, it more than any other of Beethoven's jworks up to this time seemed to herald the dawn of the new century. From its dramatic opening grave chords, through its jsearchingly expressive, emotional Adagio to the nervous intensity jand défiance of the final Allegro, the Pathétique was a burial of the past, a célébration of the future.

The years of apprenticeship were over, Beethoven had finally arrived.

FRIENDS

Finally, at the home of our friend, let's call him Mr. Brown, Jeffrey unveiled his plan. To some it may hâve seemed a get-rich-quick scheme, but to me it was pure genius: Rob and Kill was the name of the plan. The first victim, [redacted] to be attacked and brutally plundered (would she want more than that?) on the boardwalk in Venice Beach. Bioad daylight. The dastardly thieves were never caught.

Postscript: I retired from "the life", but I recently read an article in New York which led me to believe that my old friend Mr. E had continued on and become an industry leader.

Jeffrey was such a nice man, a sweet, innocent type. One oi my employées called him Mr. Epstein, the math teacher. Always ready to lend a hand, help a friend in need. He even volunteered to help out in surgery at UCLA, scrubbed, put on the gown, the whole bit, just to do his part.

Then, things began to change. I think it was shortly after he encouraged Morgan to say “woof” on the phone to me that I noticed the beginning. And then, while his friends were willing to either go blissfully ahead, eyes closed, trusling in the Almighty, Jeffrey began to get that look in his eye. He was cooking up something, something either evil or at least deadly. I always hoped he wasn’t spurred to action by my action - the unforgivable, immortal sin of getting married.

Dear Jeffrey,

As a birthday gift to you, I managed to obtain an early version of the Vanity Unfair article. I talked them into changing the focus from you to Bill Clinton, as you will see from the enclosed excerpt. Happy birthday and best regards.

Who Was That Man With Epstein?

Enquiring minds are asking, "Who was that man with Epstein?" Jeffrey Epstein is, of course, one of the world's most famous men, a household name throughout the planet. His picture has appeared on the cover of every magazine in the world. Everyone knows his story - - from his humble roots on Coney Island to his rise as one of the most envied public figures of the western world. But what was he doing flying to Africa with an obscure former politician from Hope, Arkansas? Who is that politician and why would Epstein hâve picked him for the coveted seat on his private jet. Vanity Unfair was determined to get to the bottom of this mystery man and to reveal the story behind the story. Normally we would not pry into the private life of an obscure Arkansas politician, particularly one who has tried so hard, and up to now so successfully, to keep his private life to himself. But the moment this obscure man stepped onto the Epstein jet, he became fair game for probing enquiry. Why would a man like Epstein, who can pick and choose his companions from princes to professors, select a flying companion from the Ozark Mountains? To be sure, he was a Rhodes Scholar, but we ail know how easy it is to get a Rhodes if you're from Arkansas. There must be something else. Vanity Unfair decided to snoop around. The obscure politician reluctantly agreed to an interview, on the express condition that it was completely off the record. This is what he told us...

'Tve done a lot ofsoul searching, andI've corne to. the conclusion thatlshould be thinking less about money and more about naked women, and biomathematical research.

It's no secret that Jeffrey appréciâtes beautiful women. But not many people know , that he can create them out of thin air — at least he did in Iowa in 1988.

At the time, I was managing the money of the Zimmerman family, and they lived in Fairfield Iowa, a town of less than 10,000 people between Ottumwa and Burlington. Hog farming is a serious industry there, and many feel there is more than a little truth to the saying that its hard to tell the différence between the girls and the hogs in Southeast Iowa.

I had invited Jeffrey to corne to Fairfield to see our investment operations, meet the Zimmerman family, and learn more about their major charitable projects. He asked about the nightlife and we could only laugh as we dropped him off at the local motel. The next morning a group of 4 of us picked up Jeffrey to give him a tour of the area. At our first stop we parked in front of a bookstore. As we were getting out of the car , a spectacular tall blonde woman suddenly corne out of the store, walked directly past us and up to Jeffrey and announced: "I am new to this area, what's going on?". It turned out she was a sales représentative for a firm selling academie branded athletic clothing, and she was literally driving through Iowa visiting local campuses. Jeffrey invited her to join us, and did his magic. Within a few hours, he had invited her to return to New York with him for the weekend.

The guys in the car we astonished to even see such an attractive lady in Fairfield, amazed that she passed over them to meet Jeff, and were speechless when she agreed to corne to New York. I'il admit to wondering at the time whether Jeffrey somehow arranged the whole épisode through some long distance escort service. But the following week I happened to be in Manhattan and Jeffrey asked me to give her a ride back in our company plane, giving me a chance to speak with her for a few hours. She was the real McCoy.

Happy Birthday Jeff!

Best wishes,

Bill Elkus

The analysis: A fiercely intelligent, highly complex individual for wliom the accumulation of great wealth is no problem. Prefers working in private, or better yet, utter secrecy. Emotionally complicated: Can run hot and cold, can lose interest in the blink of an eye, professes to be "available" but much goes on behind the scenes and he décidés what he gives. Extensive scientific/humanitarian/philanthropic strength and cointerest, which if hamessed and developed properly could hâve a significant impact (as in tangibly changing the world for the better) and as an added bonus, beat the current masters at their own game.

Once upon a time, an intelligent, sharp-witted man they call "mysterious" parachuted into my life...

You would spend many hours
just waiting for him to turn up

And often, no sooner were you getting used to having him around, you would suddenly be alone....
again

We love you !!

January 2003

Dear Jeffrey,

The beginning of a new year is an appropriate time to count our blessings.

Among mine is your friendship. It's been more than a decade since we met by chance at an airport in Washington. During that time you've been a good friend. I'm grateful for that and for what I hope will be many more years of your friendship.

Among your blessings has been the opportunity to lead a full, exciting, and fantastically varied life. Now that you've reached a critical milestone, I hope you will intensify your activities in the widest possible range of issues, especially in the field of science where you've already done so much.

With my congratulations, gratitude and best wishes,

George Mitchell

P.S. As you know, Heather shares your birthday, confirming my belief that a lot of great people were born on January 20!

HOUSE_OVERSIGHT_OOÛ146

Jeffery,

I hâve agonized long and hard about what to write for your birthday.

One version was a highly philosophical take on personal perception. I'il spare you the tortured prose but the gist was that the way we- see the world dépends on our expériences - how we parse things. You're one of the few people who has influenced how I parse and understand the world, and that version lauded you for it.

But, that seemed to heavy and pedantic, so out it went..

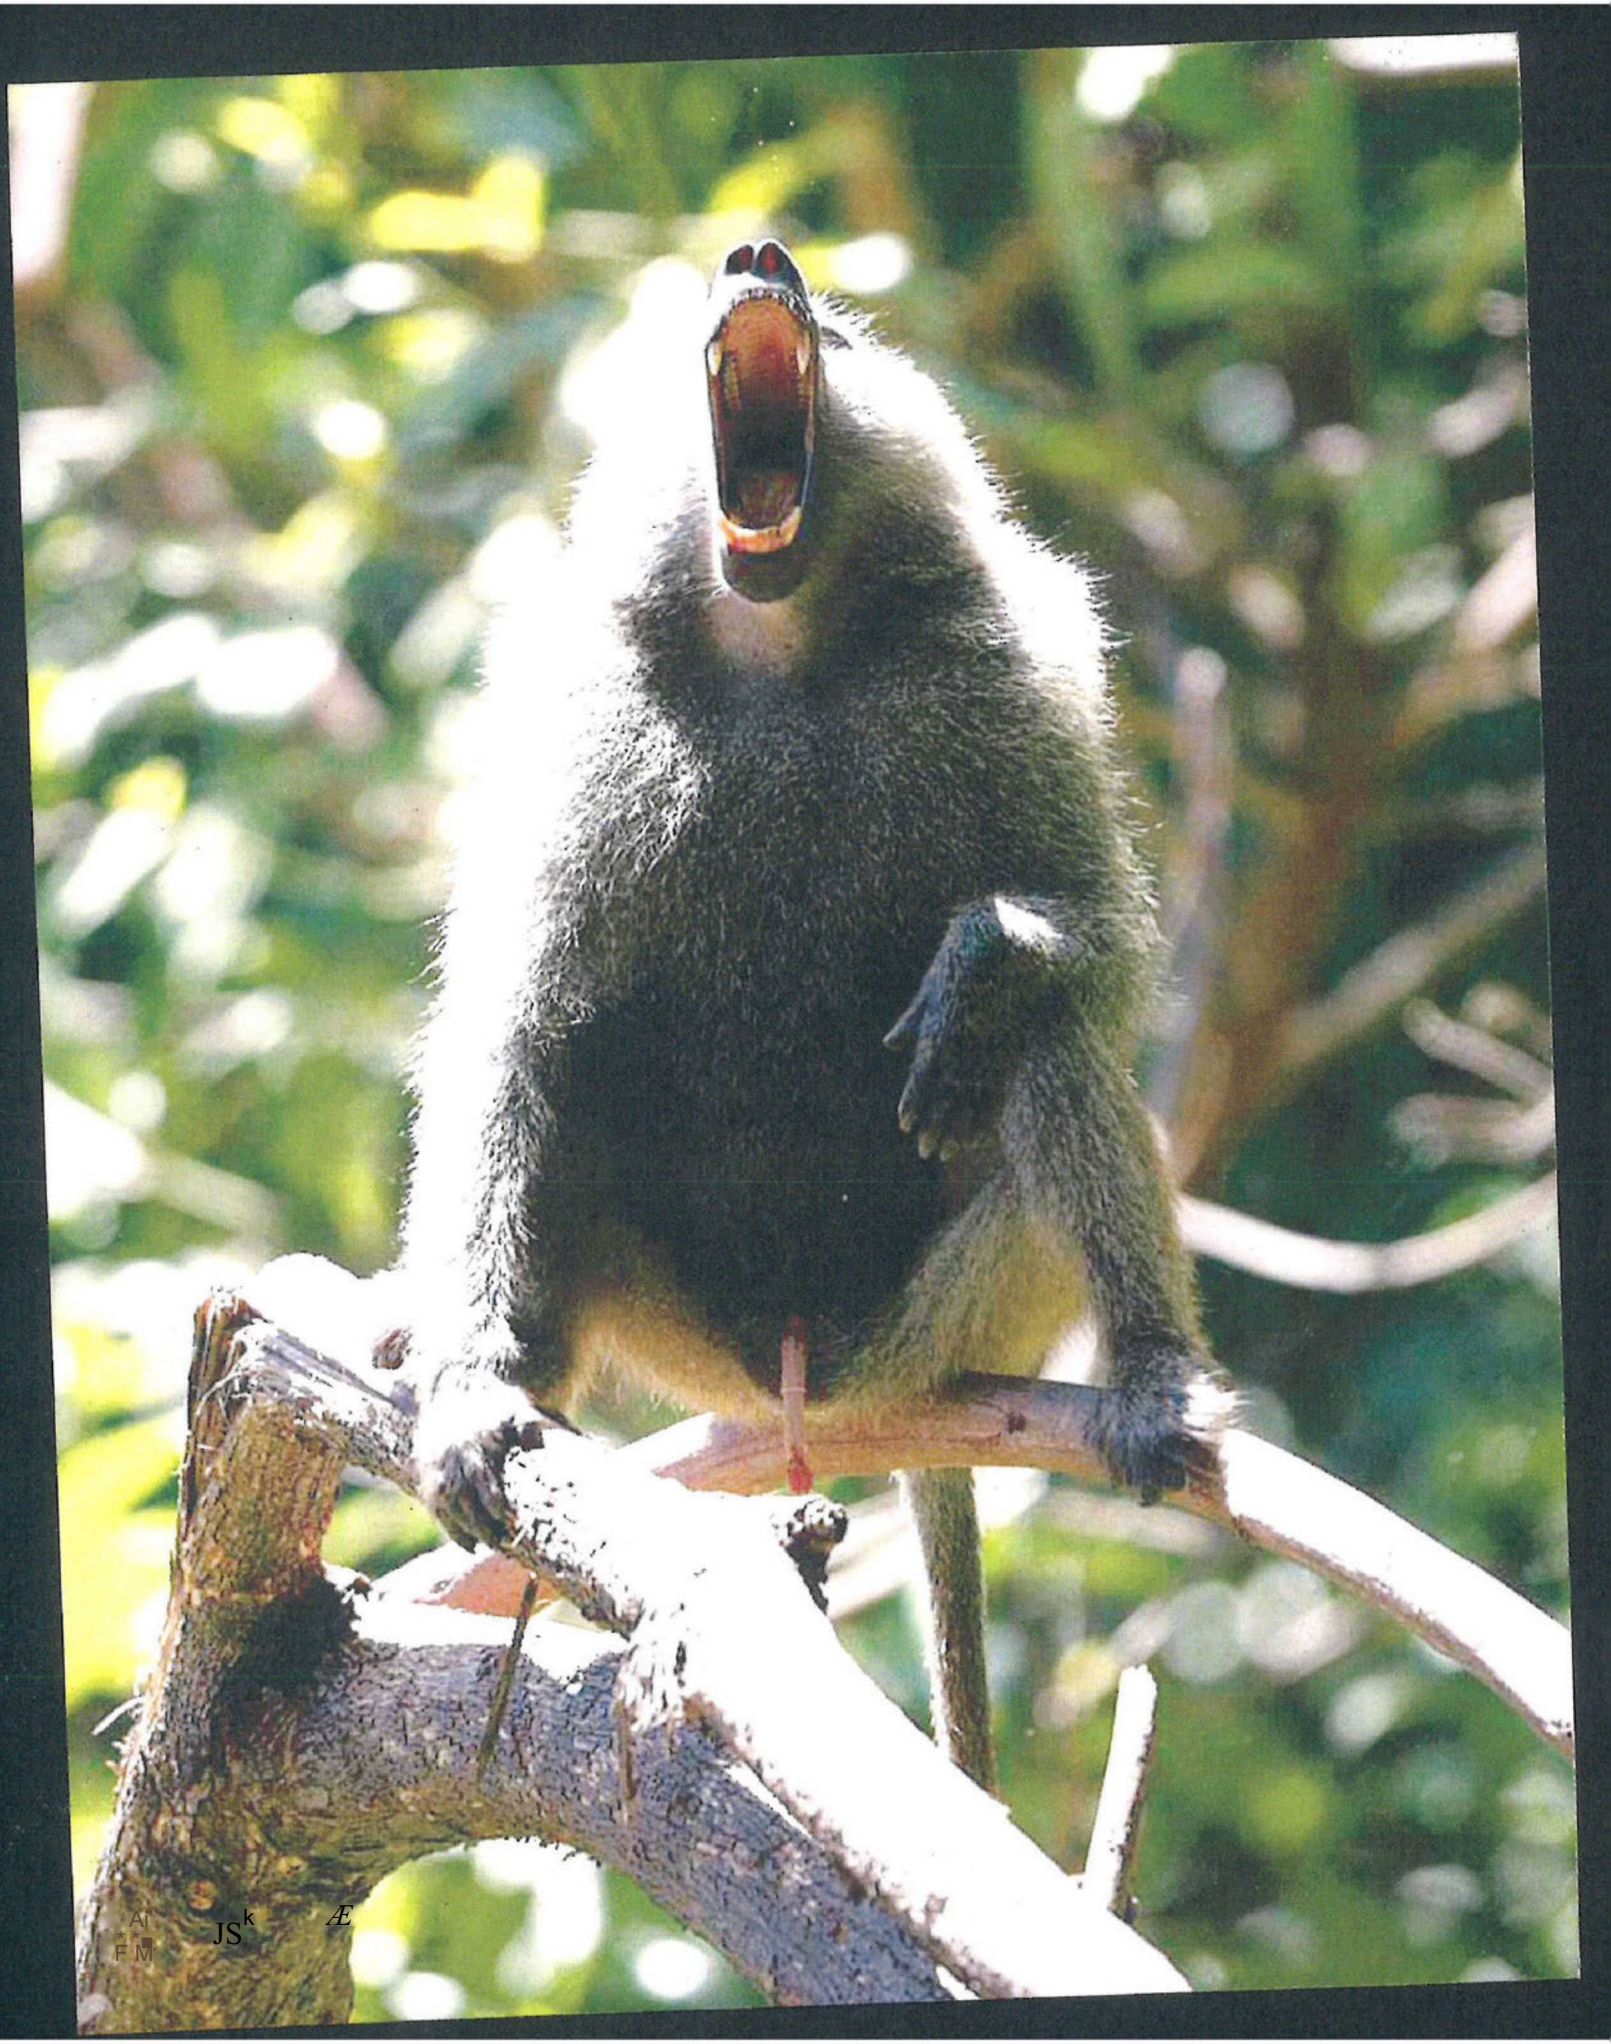

Another version was silly and salacious, since your approach to life has so much of each of these things. A few years ago somebody at a party asked me "Does Jeffrey Epstein manage your raoney?". I replied "No, but he advises me on lifestyle". The guys eyes bugged out of his head and he said "REALLY?".

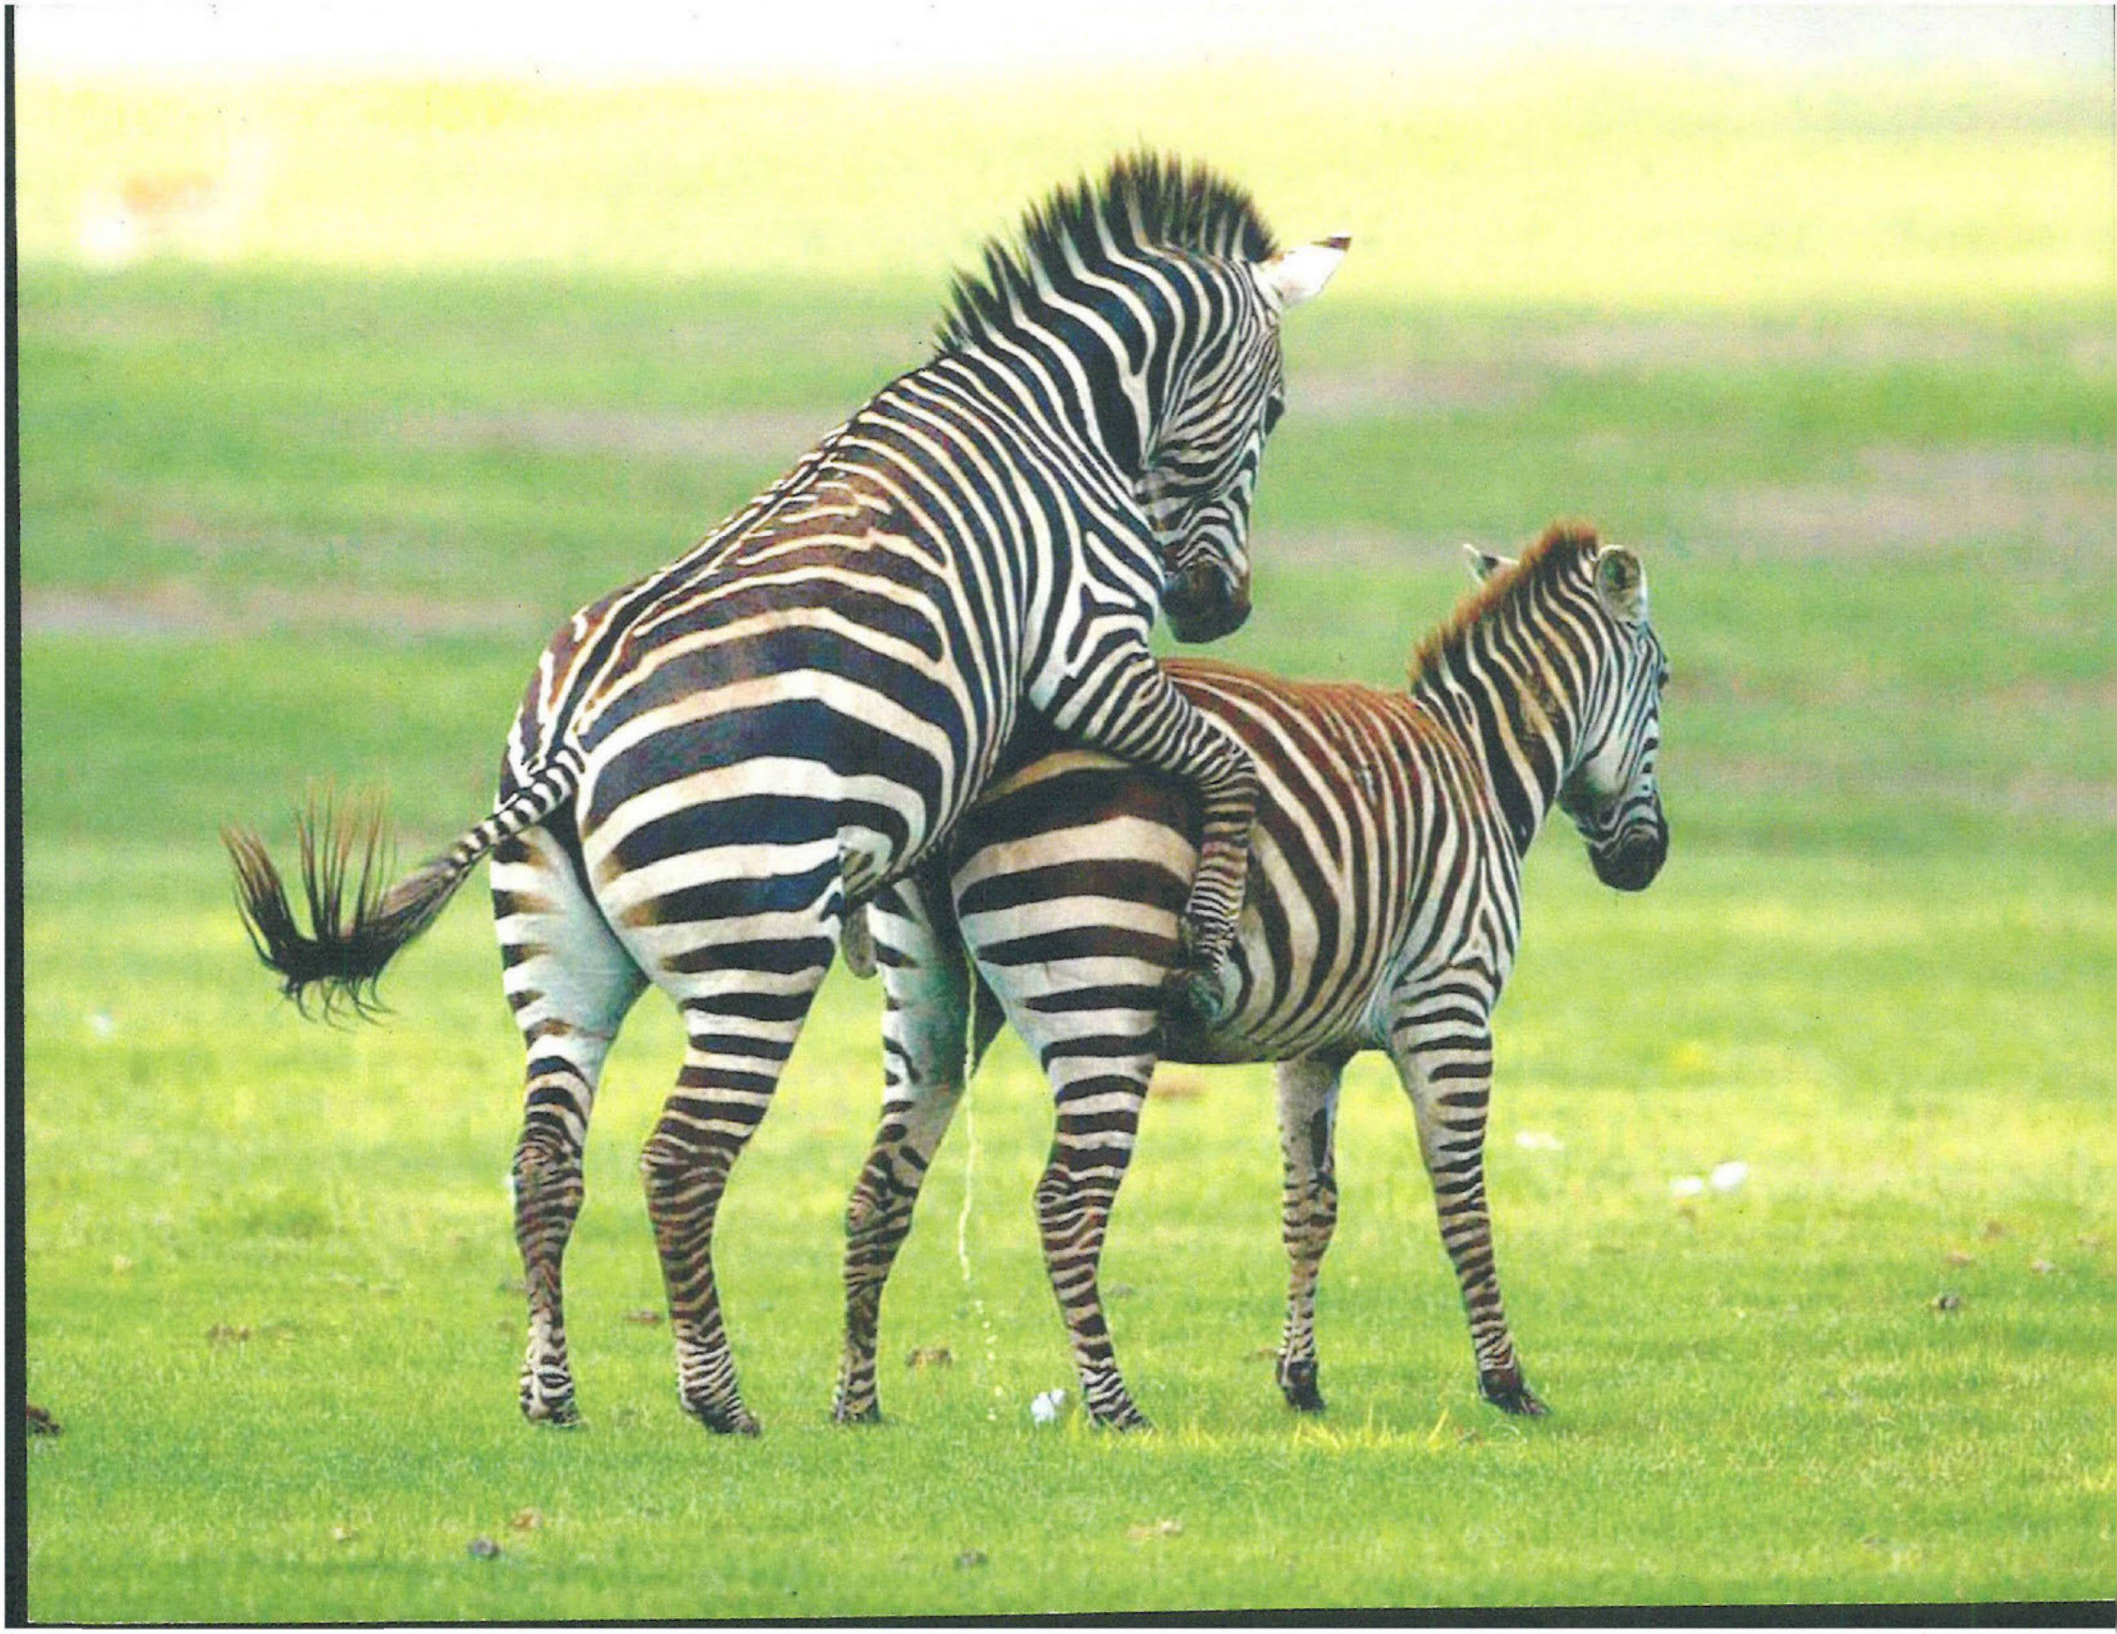

Alas I am ill prepared to comment on your lifestyle in any detail, since I am (sadly) so far behind that it would be talking about things I know little of !

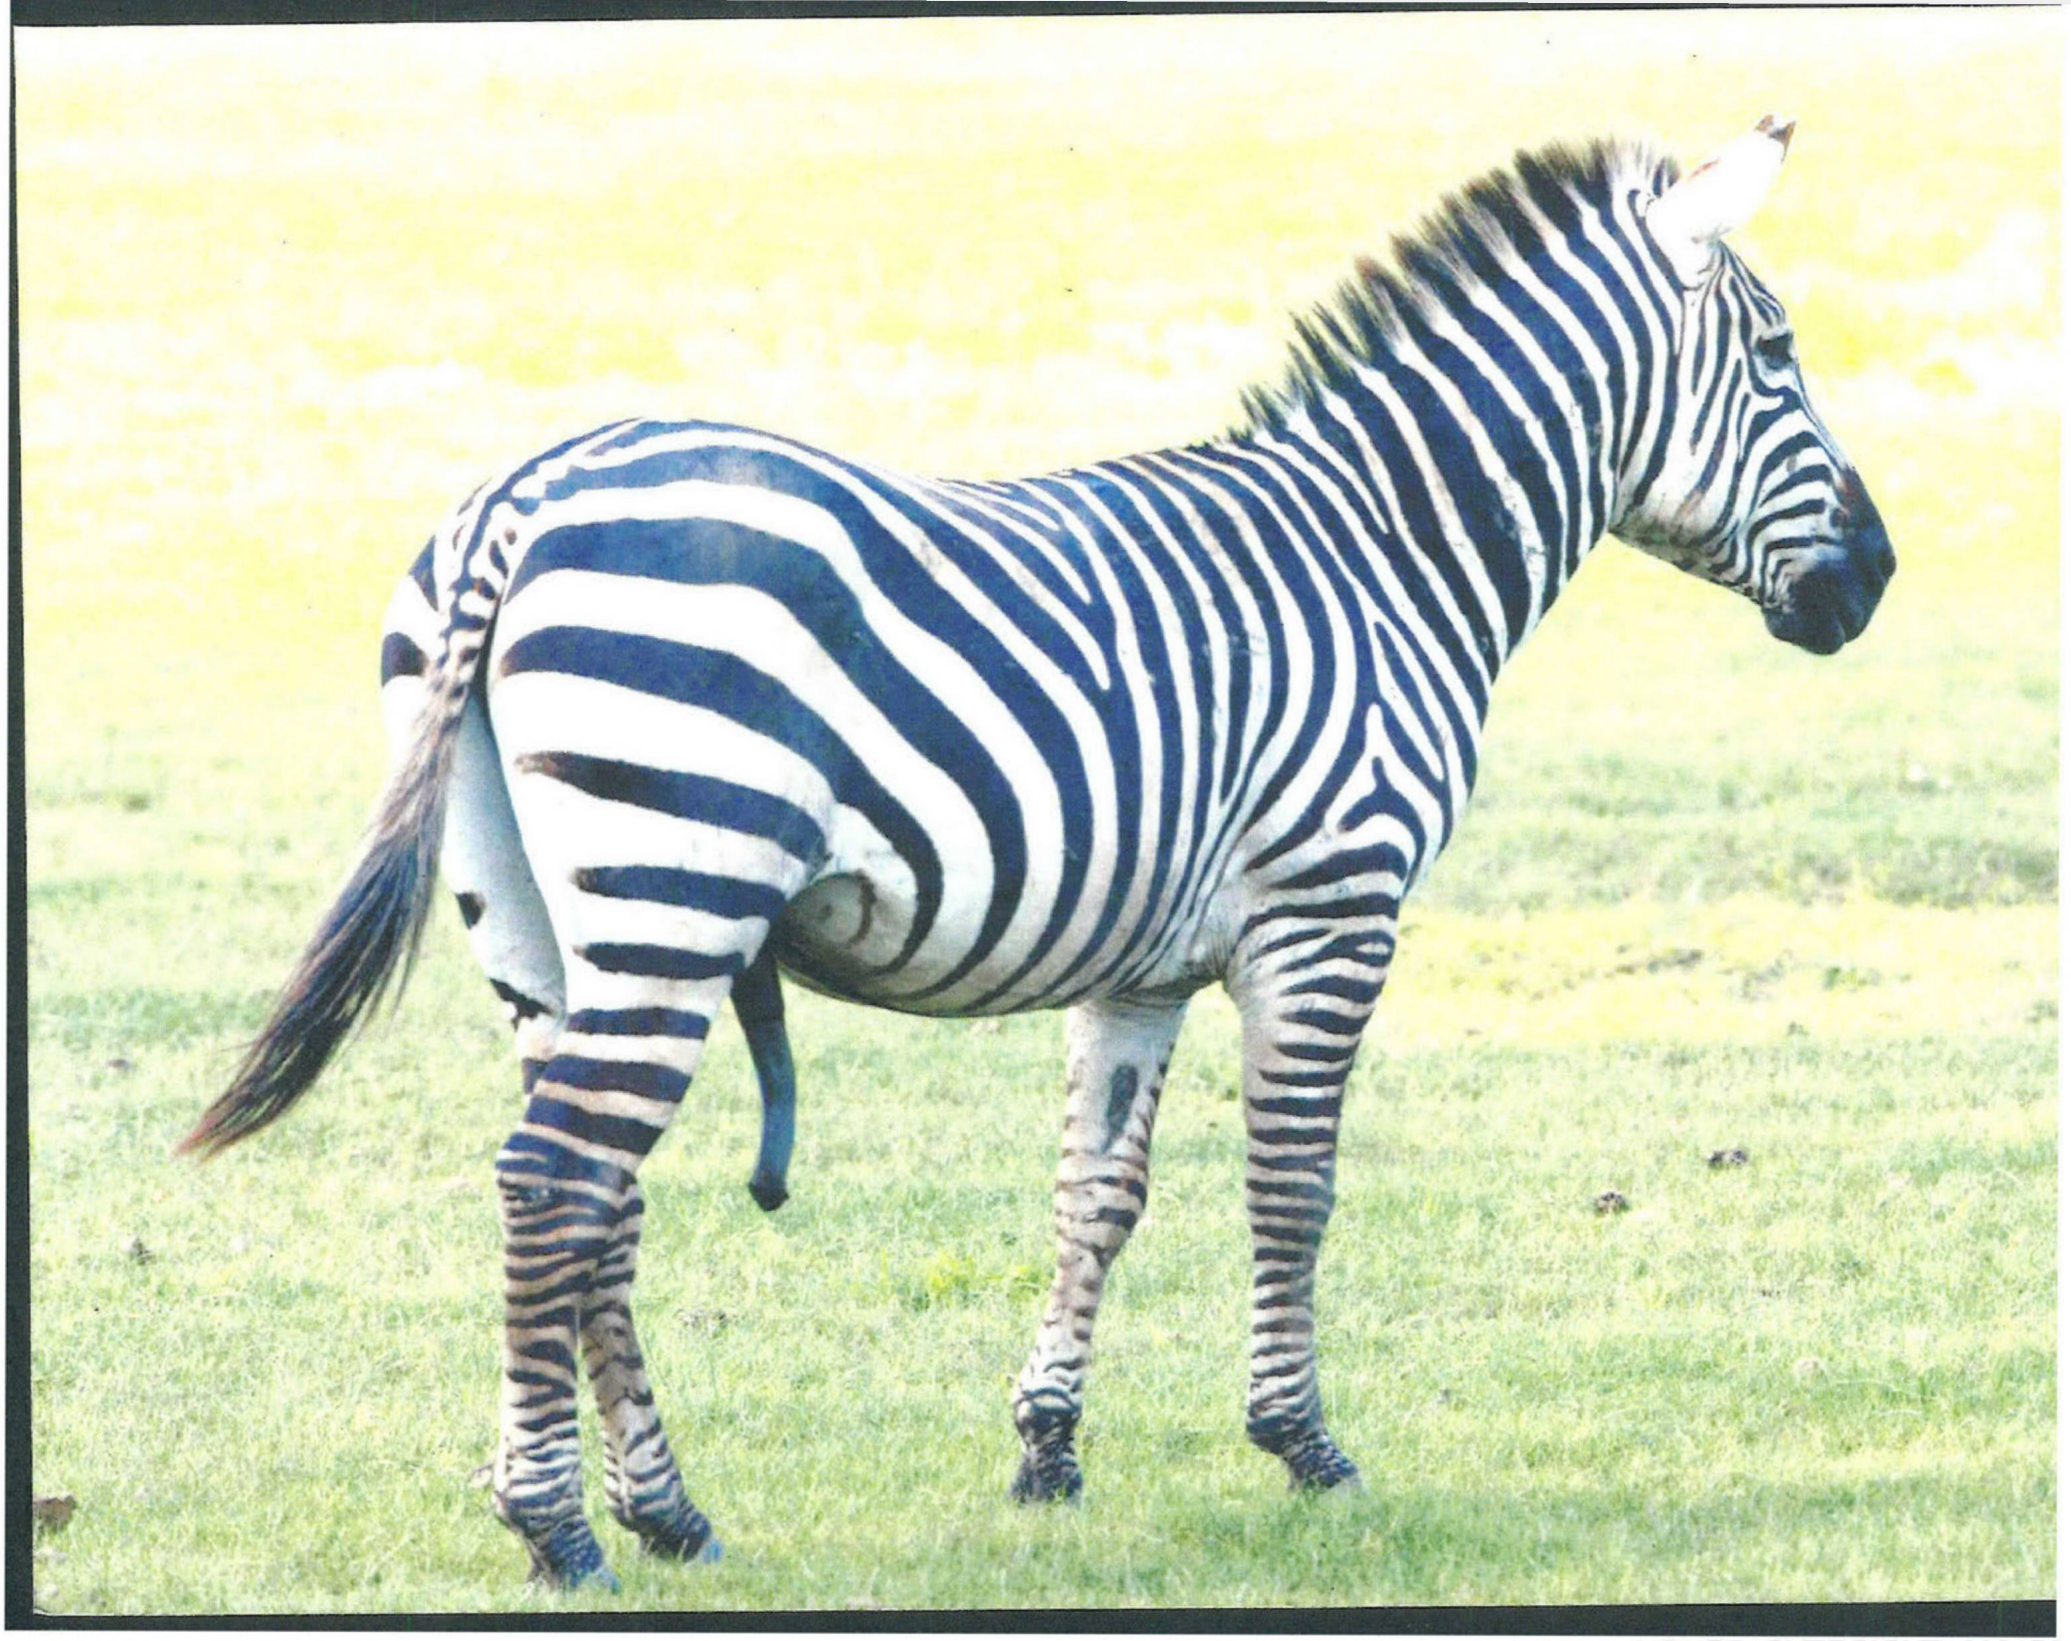

Yet another approach was to comment on our shard. interests in science and exploration, but again it seemed lacking.

So, in the end I hâve wound up with this silly excuse for a missive - neither profound nor funny. But, I've included a few photos that I took on my recent trip to Africa. They seemed more appropriate than anything I could put in words.

Nathan

Dear Jeffrey.

Since we first met, some 30 years ago, I never imagined I would open New York Magazine and read "Jeffrey Epstein International Man of Mystery."

Jeffrey, I care about you, and those that really know you, know that you are not a "mystery man". You are enigmatic to most that think differently, those without your incisive sense as to how the world works.

The magic that you possess is your remarkable capacity to arrive at solutions. It's always been Oscar Wilde and Jeffrey Epstein that were always right.

You are perceptive, insightful, concise — all in 30 seconds. If you don't get it in 30 seconds, you will not get it — the moment will have passed.

I MET JEFFREY AS A CLIENT ALTHOUGH VERY QUICKLY. EVEN THOUGH WE WERE WORKING TOGETHER, WE BECAME FRIENDS; SO I CONSIDER HIM FIRST A FRIEND. OF COURSE, BECOMING FRIENDS WAS INEVITABLE BECAUSE FOR THE FIRST TIME I MET SOMEONE CRAZIER THAN ME... J/!

HE CAN MAYBE BE A BEAR, BUT MOSTLY A TEDDY BEAR. HE IS THE MOST ADORABLE AND COOLEST FRIEND THAT ANYONE CAN HAVE.

COLLECTINÔ HOMES IS HIS HOBBY. WHEN I MET HIM HE bib NOT WANT ANY CONSTRUCTION; HE COULD NOT STAND TO LOOK AT FABRIC WITH PRINTEb PATTERNS; HE DETESTED CHINESE CURIO AND TODAY HE BEGS FOR ALL OF THESE!

THE LAST TIME I SAW HIM WE MET TO REVIEW A PLAN. DURING OUR MEETING HE MAbE MANY CONSTRUCTIVE COMMENTS AND WHEN WE LEFT I SAID TO MY COLLEAGUES 'YOU KNOW, HE WAS RIGHT!'. HE LEARNS SO QUICKLY THAT SOON HE WILL BE OUTTHINKING ME!

FOR THIS OCCASION, I GIVE HIM ALL MY TENDERNESS AND MY MOST SINCERE AND DEEPEST FRIENDSHIP, EVEN THOUGH SOMETIMES HE CAN BE A ROYAL PAIN IN THE ASS!

The first équation is a fondamental property of the Riemann zêta fonction (that it is both a sum over ail integers and a product over primes). The zêta fonction is a very important fonction, and this équation partially explains why people care about it (although this may not be apparent from the équation it encodes information about primes in a form that doesn't obviously involve primes.

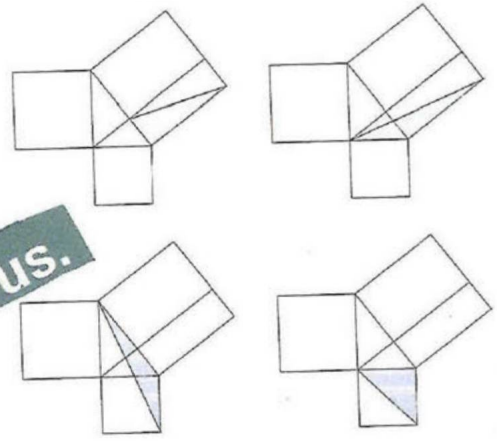

$$\zeta(s) = \sum_{n=1}^{\infty} \frac{1}{n^s} = \prod_{p \text{ prime}} \frac{1}{1-p^{-s}}$$

$$1 + \sum_{k=1}^{\infty} \frac{q^{k^2}}{(1-q)(1-q^2)\cdots(1-q^k)} = \prod_{j=0}^{\infty} \frac{1}{(1-q^{5j+1})(1-q^{5j+4})}$$

$$\frac{1}{1+\dfrac{e^{-2\pi\sqrt{5}}}{1+\dfrac{e^{-4\pi\sqrt{5}}}{1+\cdots}}} = \left(\frac{\sqrt{5}}{1+\sqrt[5]{5^{3/4}\left(\frac{\sqrt{5}-1}{2}\right)^{5/2}}} - \frac{\sqrt{5}+1}{2} \right) e^{2\pi/\sqrt{5}}$$

The third equation is one of Ramanujan's most elaborate identities. I don't think it's very important in the overall scheme of things, but it certainly looks impressive.

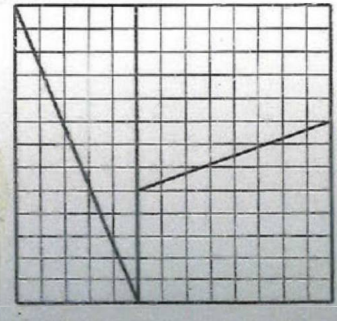

The first picture is a visualization of Euclid's proof of the Pythagorean theorem. He wanted to show that the big square on the hypoténuse had area exactly equal to those of the small squares combined. To do this, he dropped a perpendicular line (the one in the picture that cuts through the triangle and the big square) and claimed that the two rectangles it divided the big square into had areas equal to those of the small squares. To establish that, he showed that ail four shaded triangles had the same area (which is not too hard using the 1/2-base-times-height area formula for triangles). The structure of the proof is often obscured by using a single diagram covered with letters labeling various things.

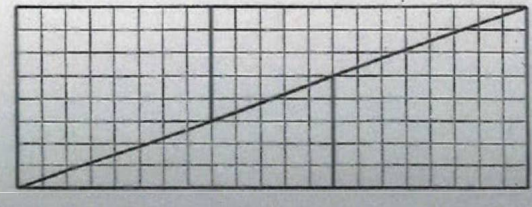

F and only F would ask Mandelbrot, "How fed up are your kids?"

xo, Steve ♥ Vanessa

Solutions beyond the obvious.

$13 \times 13 = 8 \times 21?$

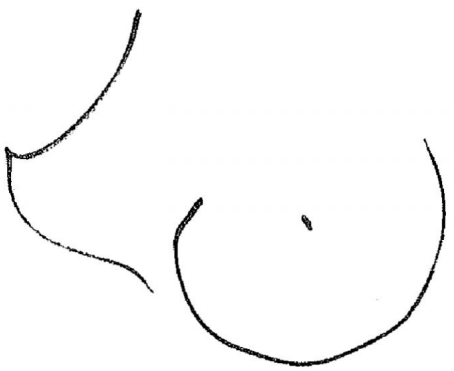

The final picture is a paradox discovered by Lewis Carroll
A 13-by-13 square is eut up into four pièces, which are reassembled into an 8-by-21 rectangle. However 13*2 = 8*21 + 1. Where did the missing unit of area go?

Dear Jeffrey,

On this occasion, I am reminded of our many conversations, fueled by both your curiosity and your skepticism. Quoting great minds may be the only gift I can give you to stimulate the one and dissuade the other.

First, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr:

"Certitude is not the test of certainty. We have been cocksure of many things that were not so." Your curiosity, continuing on with your skepticism, will take care of this without hazard, birthday after birthday.

Next, Thoreau:

"Pursue, keep up with, circle round and round your life, as a dog does his master's chaise. Do what you love. Know your own bone; gnaw at it, bury it, unearth it and gnaw it still." This too, you do admirably.

Then, Leonardo da Vinci:

"Iron rusts from disuse, stagnant water loses its purity and in cold weather becomes frozen; even so does inaction sap the vigors of the mind" Epstein is not at risk. When he is in the room, you do not fall asleep.

Finally, a remark from the not so great Gertrude Stein on your anxieties:

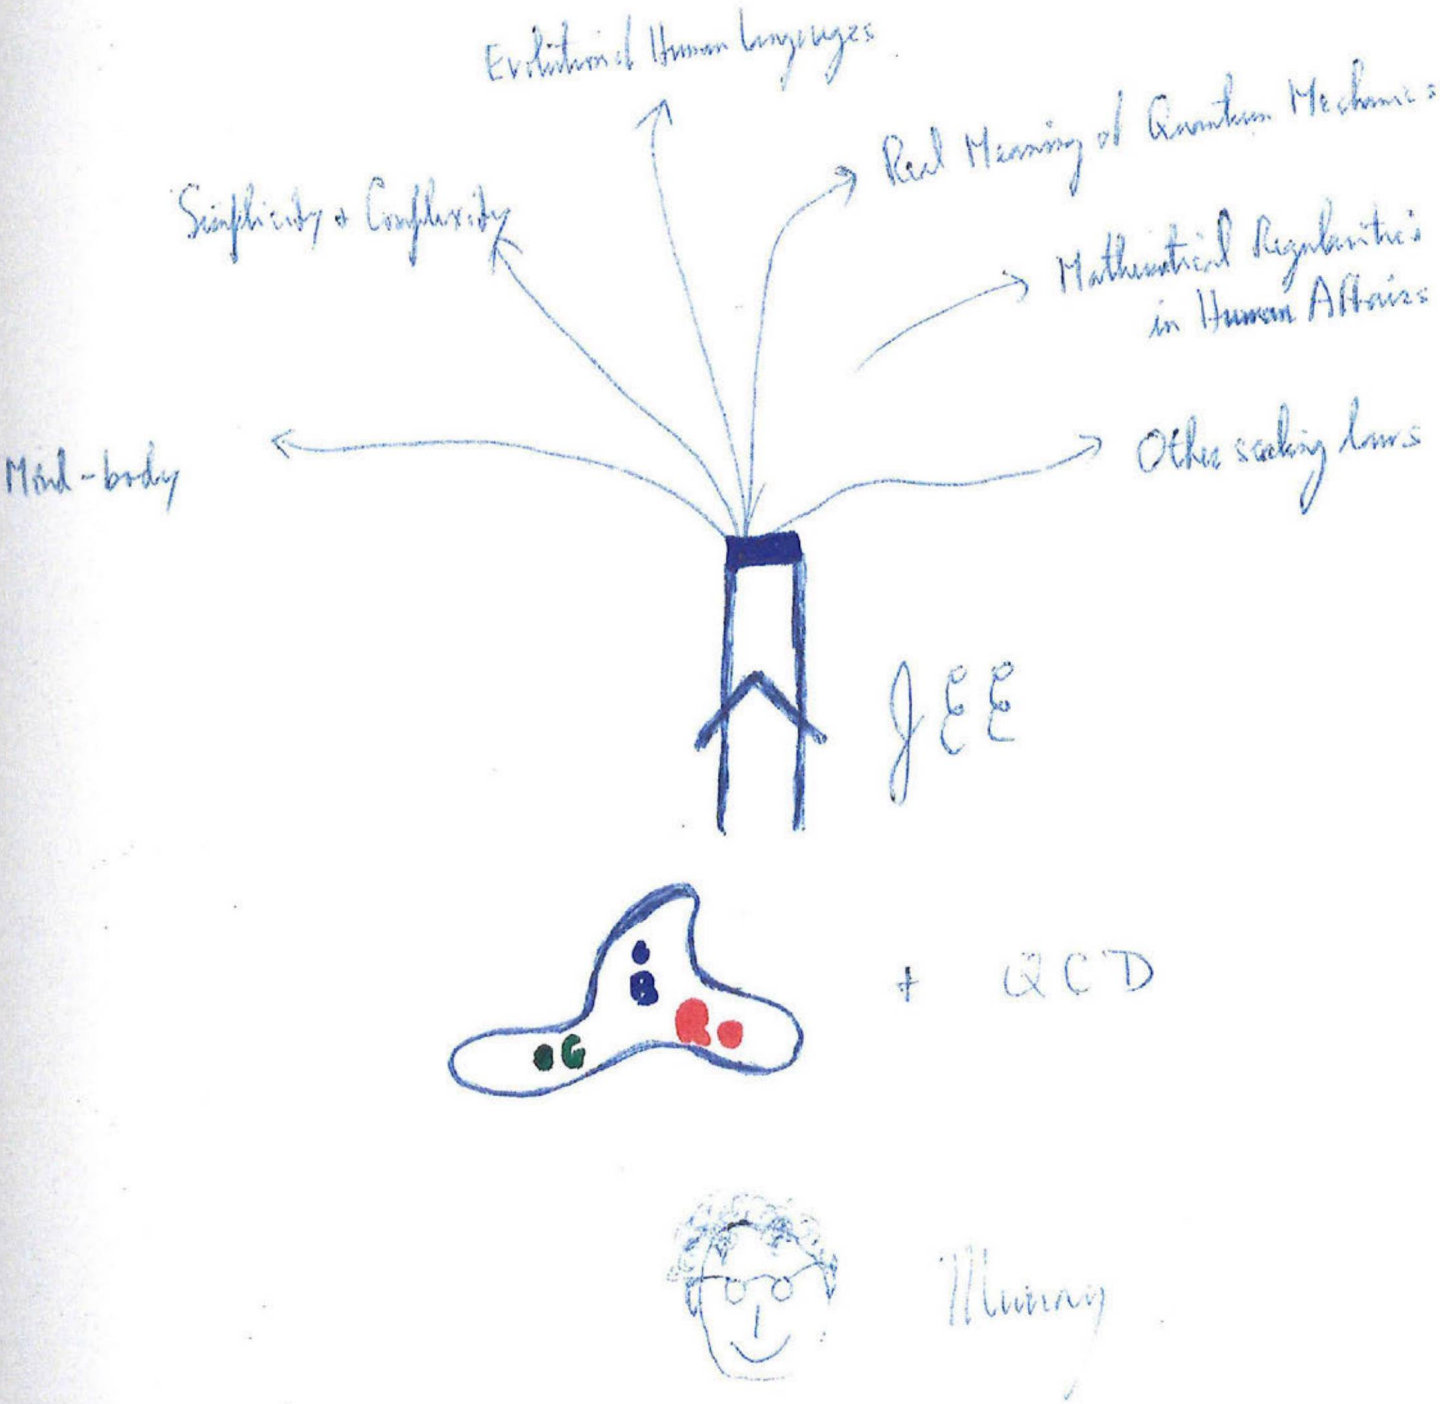

"As a cousin of mine once said about money, money is always there but the pockets change; it is not in the same pockets after a change, and that is all there is to say about money"

You have said more and, being beyond talk, have shown how to find it.

And so, felicitations on the vigors of your body and mind, and warm hopes for many occasions celebrating their gifts. Jerry Edelman

The primordial soup, here or elsewhere, generated a quasispecies of aperiodic macromolecules. Quasispecies live in sequence space, which is a collection of hyper-dimensional cubes. Each cube arises by ordering ail. possible sequences of a certain length in such a way that nearest neighbors differ in only one position. The length of the genome détermines the dimension of the cube. A very small gene, for example, lives in a 1000 dimensional cube. Its sequence is 1 particular choies out of $1O^{600}$ possibilities.

For comparison there are only 10^{80} protons in our universe.

I am so lucky to have you in my life

Love,

Jeffrey

Look at this drawing.
Picture the scene without the audience, the girl sleeping on the floor I believe had shorter hair then ...
Does it bring you back memories ??

I'm thinking of all the great times we had together. You know you will always be my very close friend even though we don't see each other so much anymore.
Have a Happy 50th (I can't believe it!) But the good news is: You look better than you did years ago when we first met.
love always

Happy Birthday to "My Favorite"!

Jeffrey, we met in the summer of 1985 at "Indochine" which makes us friends for 17 yrs... can you believe it!! During these years we have had alot of fun watching eachother grow up. But there are a few memories that particularly stand out which should make you chuckle! First, the day Clark Schubach brought me over to your apt. and then left! After chatting for a bit you blurted out "you are a virgin right"... after recovering from embarassment I answered yes, how did you know and you said "because you talk so fast" Ha! Ha! Then there was the day we went shopping together at Bloomingdales and you proceeded to throw me down on the floor.. right smack in the middle of the shoe dept. and started tickling and kissing me all over!! Next, there was the time I stayed at your house because my apt. was not yet ready to move into and one morning I woke up and there were white roses all over the room so I asked who they were for (thinking you had a girlfriend coming over etc.) and you replied "For You"... that was one of my most sweetest/special moments I've had with you. Then there was [redacted] black tie birthday party. I was so excited that you invited me... Ace Greenberg was there so I looked really cool as I just started working at Bear Stearns and there was one waiter for each couple... now that was "chic". I still smile each morning at the picture from that party which you sent me this past July for my birthday... Jeffrey what I love about you is that sometimes you can be just so sweet & sentimental... thank you for sharing that part of yourself with me! Next was a time you were driving around with Jo Jo and had a craving for frozen yogurt so stopped by for an impromtu visit cause you know I always have a treat in the freezer... you were so cute as you entered my apartment with that big grin on your face!! Then remember the time I was living in California and you invited me to Palm Beach for a visit. Well you had a guest, and I hadn't seen you in awhile and wanted to spend some private time with you so we went out to the movies alone. Gosh I could go on and on but I suffice it to say I have loved most every minute I've had knowing you over these past years. All the chats we've had, life lessons, boy strategy, tears to laughter and on and on. I hope I've made you proud and look forward to more adventures/exciting times with you in the years to come!
